

Joining Our Program

To be considered for one of our programs, prospective riders or their parents/legal guardians must first complete the required application form and return it to EquiCenter. Staff members will then assess the prospective rider to determine eligibility.

Admission into our program will depend upon certain logistical considerations, such as scheduling, instructor availability and horse/pony that are appropriate for the needs of the rider.

We make every effort to accommodate as many riders as possible. We currently have a wait list of eligible applicants for whom we do not have an immediate opening. We will contact the rider as soon as the required conditions become available.

Once there is an opening, you will be contacted and be asked to come in for an evaluation. All new incoming students will be requested to start with a private lesson. Our staff will establish short-term objectives and long-range goals based on the individual's needs.
